This exhibition of "Law" oriented paintings affirms:

- the origins of visionbuilding, a Kimberley offering,
- its application to the Hawkesbury/Hills area, in NW Sydney
- the transfer of a new learning method for building a vision that helps people to address societal issues, like climate, peak oil, gfc & mental health with a less-adversarial structure & an option to engage in Million Signs Australia a visionary project

The informing artwork was devised over a thirty-year cycle creating a visual symbol language to activate visionbuilding.

Nureeni Wright is curator of the first visionbuilder exhibition.

It runs throughout October at the Downing Centre Court on the cnr of Elizabeth & Liverpool streets, Sydney. It can be viewed each day. CONTACT: via www.visionbuilder.com.au
